Victoria Machado

Scholar

Victoria received her B.A. and M.A. at the University of Florida, focusing on intentional communities, sustainability, and bioregionalism. After working as an environmental organizer in South Florida, she returned to UF where she is currently a PhD candidate studying the intersection of religion and environmental activism. More specifically she is interested in state and local water issues, environmental justice, and the underlying values that promote social change.

Sacred Waters: Exploring the Protection of Florida's Fluid Landscapes

This presentation explores efforts to restore Florida's waterways. We will investigate the motivations of environmentalists who love and advocate for these water bodies. By focusing on issues related to springs and the Everglades, we will dive into the conversations that arise when Floridians view water as essential to their quality of life.
