Florida Humanities Experiences a Landmark Year

Nashid Madyun
Executive Director

Tom Luzier
Board Chair

We are proud to share with you our annual report for the fiscal year ending October 31, 2022. This year has been a remarkable one for Florida Humanities, as we continue to fulfill our mission to preserve, promote, and share the rich history, literature, cultures, and personal stories that offer Floridians a better understanding of themselves, their communities, and their state.

This year saw our largest grant funding distribution in the 50-year history of our organization! Thanks to $1.88 million in American Rescue Plan funding, we assisted 129 organizations in every region of the state to maintain operations during and after the COVID-19 pandemic. This general operating cost funding helped pay utility bills, insurance costs, technology needs and, importantly, to retain staff — resulting in saving nearly 450 jobs in the state.

Our recurring annual funding from the National Endowment for Humanities and the State of Florida supported a wide range of initiatives, from local history exhibits to film screenings, lecture series, oral history projects, documentaries, podcasts and virtual exhibits. We launched a landmark funding increase in 2022, raising the cap for Community Project Grants from $5,000 to $10,000 and revamped our storied Florida Talks speakers program to offer more than 30 exceptional scholars, journalists, authors, and humanities experts delivering 60 brand new and returning presentations. And, Florida Humanities was designated by the Library of Congress as the Florida Center for the Book affiliate this fiscal year. Created in 1977, the Center for the Book promotes reading, libraries and literacy throughout the United States. To support the initiative, Florida Humanities established Book Festival Grants, adding yet another avenue for us to celebrate the joy of reading and help bring Florida's rich cultural heritage to life.

In July 2022, we chartered a new journey for Florida Humanities when we launched a reimagined Membership Program. With this new endeavor, we offer a range of giving levels with a variety of benefits, such as a year's worth of FORUM magazine, book discounts and first access to special events. We also saw a 17% increase in contributions, program fees and in-kind donations, demonstrating that the value of our work is apparent to individuals and cultural institutions alike.

As always, our work is made possible by the dedication and support of our partners and donors. We are grateful to all of you for your generosity and your commitment to preserving the cultural heritage of Florida for generations to come. I invite you to peruse the pages of this annual report for a closer look at the breadth of our work.

We look forward to the year ahead, as we begin to celebrate the 50th anniversary of our founding, build on the successes of the past year and continue to highlight the vibrant cultural landscape in our state.

AMERICAN RESCUE PLAN

FUNDING

When the American Rescue Plan (ARP) Act was passed on March 11, 2021, the National Endowment for the Humanities (NEH) received $135 million to assist humanities organizations across the country affected by the coronavirus pandemic. The state humanities councils, including Florida Humanities, each received a portion of the NEH award to provide short-term general operating support in their respective states to museums, archives, historic sites, and other humanities-focused nonprofits.

In Fall 2021, Florida Humanities awarded 129 organizations with a total of $1,878,000 — the largest single grants initiative Florida Humanities has ever managed as well as the most funding ever distributed at one time. From retaining jobs to supporting utility costs, the ARP funds helped organizations recover from the pandemic's economic impact as well as maintain delivery of public humanities programming and resources in their communities.

“Florida Humanities was the backbone supporting the arts and culture organizations during the first two years of the pandemic... The grant funding provided salary for our employees, allowing our lights to stay on to continue serving the public.”

Jobs

419 new or retained positions with Florida Humanities
funding

6,721,00 people annually served by statewide grant recipients

40 Florida counties received funding, including 13
organizations in seven Rural Areas of Opportunity (DeSoto, Franklin, Gadsden, Highlands, Jefferson, Levy, Putman)

80% of funding went to organizations with budgets of less than $500,000 and the average operating budget of award recipients was $286,000

HIGHWAY PARK NEIGHBORHOOD COUNCIL
(Lake Placid)

“The pressures of being a new executive director were magnified by the pandemic. I was overwhelmed with figuring out how to find funding in order to build stability and continue our work at the same time. I applied to all sorts of grants and I knocked on many, many donor doors. The most efficient use of my time in finding help was my interactions with Florida Humanities...Communication was exceptional, and I was SO relieved to receive the support.”

CENTER FOR THE BOOK

The Library of Congress in late 2021 designated Florida Humanities as the Florida Center for the Book affiliate. Established in 1977, the Center for the Book promotes reading, libraries and literacy through a collaboration between the Library of Congress and affiliates in all 50 states and U.S. territories. As a Center for the Book affiliate, Florida Humanities crafts programming and funding to promote literature and learning.

National Book Festival

In September 2022, we selected titles to reading lists unveiled in conjunction with the National Book Festival in Washington, D.C. For "Route 1 Reads," a road-trip inspired reading list selected by 16 Center for the Book affiliates located along Route 1, we selected Florida by Lauren Groff. For "Great Reads from Great Places," a book list for young people, we selected Strange Birds: A Field Guide to Ruffling Feathers by Celia C. Pérez.

Book Festival Grants

Smithsonian

Since 2012, Florida Humanities has provided funding for more than 57 exhibition tours in 33 counties, allowing nearly 200,000 Floridians to experience a Smithsonian Institution exhibition in their own hometown.

In 2022, Florida Humanities supported the Smithsonian's Water/Ways exhibition in Florida, which explored the role water plays as an essential component of life on our planet, environmentally, culturally, and historically. The exhibit appeared at:

- MidFlorida Credit Union Event Center, Port St. Lucie (Oct. 30–Dec. 31, 2021)
- Dolly Hand Cultural Arts Center, Belle Glade (Jan. 8–Feb. 26, 2022)
- Barron Library, LaBelle (March 5–April 30, 2022)
- Amelia Island Museum of History (May 7–July 2, 2022)
- African American Cultural Society, Palm Coast (July 9–Sept. 23, 2022)

From top to bottom: Water/Ways in Palm Coast, Belle Glade and Port. St. Lucie venues.

“After listening to Dr. J. Michael Butler’s presentation, which wove “behind the scene” facts & details from the 60’s, I was engaged to the point of exploring the subject matter further on my own. In my opinion, this is why programs like this matter. It moves us to think outside of the box, to be inspired, to make the world a better place for all.”

Democracy REUNITED

Our multi-year civic engagement initiative with The Village Square supported five virtual programs with an audience of more than 14,000 people. We also supported the production of 10 episodes of its podcast series Village SquareCast, reaching 1,900 listeners.

Among the noted participating authors and scholars were:

- Jonathan Rauch, author of The Constitution of Knowledge, which explores the extraordinary system of how we flawed humans gain knowledge that scales and endure (November 2021)
- Dr. Theodore R. Johnson, author of When the Stars Begin to Fall: Overcoming Racism and Renewing the Promise of America, in (March 2022)
- Dr. Justin Guest, author of Majority Minority, which examines what happened in six of the world's few societies that have already experienced a majority minority transition (May 2022)
- Dr. Robb Willer on How to Have Better Political Conversations or: Ending this Zombie Apocalypse (September 2022)
- Mónica Guzmán, author of I Never Thought of It That Way: How to Have Fearlessly Curious Conversations in Dangerously Divided Times (October 2022)

FORUM Magazine

This year's magazines featured Florida's rich musical legacy, literature, cuisine, architectural and natural treasures and Indigenous voices. A special magazine published with support from a grant from the National Endowment for Humanities explored "A More Perfect Union: Pursuing Life, Liberty and the Florida Dream." FORUM Magazine won 16 awards (six first-place) at the 2022 Florida Magazine Association Awards including "Best Overall: Writing" and sweeping "Best Writing: In-Depth Reporting."

"The magazine's timely topics and excellent journalism by a diverse group of professional writers have helped me better understand myself and the history of Florida, raised my curiosity and even fed my soul...Florida Humanities is a nexus of people with people with interesting ideas and important perspectives."

“We only hope everyone realizes how special and generous Florida Humanities is, not only with grants and funding but with the important knowledge they make available. I cannot imagine a world without this important organization!”

DIXIE THEATRE FOUNDATION
(Apalachicola)

“I began my involvement with Florida Humanities about 40 years ago because this is an essential organization to help ensure our democracy. By questioning and learning about the history and contributions of the different peoples who have settled in Florida over 500 years, we better understand and respect each other — we are more empathetic.”
